NEW YORK, July 19.—The World's Cape Town cable says: Cecil Rhodes was in the thick of the fight with insurgent Matabele at Amba, near Bulawayo. Bullets whistled within a few inches of him.

"By jove, they are close," he remarked once. Three hundred rebel natives were killed in the battle, though the British loss was only thirteen. There is fighting all along the line of Matabeleland.

THE GOOD CASE.

EDITOR BULLETIN:—To the public of Honolulu: I am an ex-member of Co. E., N. G. H., and have learned to my great sorrow of all the trouble that has come over my old captain through a certain lieutenant that some time ago brought trouble and disgrace over two of his fellow-officers and now over his captain, by making cowardly reports. If the public wants to learn of any true real scandals from inside the Palace force and the Military ranks, it would learn of something far more disgraceful than the trouble of Capt. Good, by asking for information regarding the lawless secret banking business that a certain Lieutenant is running and which in the time of three years has brought him from pauper to be a well-off man that lately has bought a lot, builded and so on, all by the money he has got out of the men of the two regular companies on a most unlawful scale.

So far as I know, no banking business or pawnshop can be run in this country without a license, but this Lieutenant has all along been running both above-mentioned institutions, without any license and against any military laws.

Also do I know that no man can charge more than 9 per cent per annum for his money, but the Lieutenant has charged the soldiers from 15 to 25 per cent each month, and which in many—well, in most cases—gave him a hundred per cent in return for the sum so loaned out to the man. A fact is also, that this tempting trap has brought sorrow, trouble and all harm to many a soldier in the palace, during the last three years. They, in their foolishness, grabbed for the dollar this Lieutenant holds for their eyes, but was not able to pay him back until the borrowed sum was doubled, by rents.

A fact is also, that the man who patronized the Lieutenant's bank or pawnshop at once was favored in many little ways that gave more work to the man who kept out of this officer's bank.

Colonel McLean ordered all money-lending to stop, when he came here, but I learn that the business is carried on just without the Colonel's knowledge, only in a more secret way, and that the Lieutenant now charges 25 instead of 15 per cent each month, on account of the risk he is running, if the Colonel gets knowledge of the affair.

Why don't the Minister of Foreign Affairs look into all these little things, just as well as to the faults of Captain Good?
